How many men do you know who put in eight hours a day on their jobs?

The leading merchants usually change in most towns about every five years.

The cyclones and floods in this country just about put the wars out of business.

On April the first, there started a big money count in Washington to make room for a new treasurer, but so far nothing has happened that would indicate that Thos. Lacy was around.

TINKERING WITH TALK J. C.

We don't know what Adam and Eve gave Cain and Able when they bled with the colic, but they probably doused them with something, if it wasn't anything but sheep's milk. And since that time man has figured that he wasn't constructed quite right from the beginning, and he has been tinkering with the job ever since, trying to keep his machinery running without a knock. Man hasn't succeeded very well in overcoming little defects in his frame, and probably never will. But it does look like as people become more intelligent they are taking less medicine and paying more attention to the habits of other animals, who do not patronize drug stores.

HOW TO BE HAPPY.

A Parisian highbrow, a disciple of Maeterlinck, solemnly announces to a waiting world that he has discovered the secret of happiness. Not only that, but he proposes to teach a waiting world how this may be attained, he will teach those who can attend certain exclusive schools in Paris. As near as a coarse outsider may grasp this fine idea, the plan is to train the mind to be happy. And to gain this joyous knowledge, members of the idle rich may pay much real money, and find such temporary relief on the novelty of the situation affords, after which they may drift back to their old system of being bored by the wide world and envious.

However, it occurs to us that this latest prophet of pleasantness is springing old stuff. Not that that should detract from its value. And beyond a question of a doubt it has great value, although one would be foolish to pay hard earned money for it. For at most he only offers a variation of membership in the Don't Worry club, which is available with fee or initiation to all who want to join. That may not be the secret of happiness, but it is a boost in that direction.

Everyone has troubles while crossing this vale of tears, and no one should be expected to shout and sing on all occasions, but no Parisian poet is needed to tell the plodding pilgrims that happiness is largely a home product, and can't be bought in the open market. Of course, an empty stomach is not supposed to be conducive of lasting joy, and there are other forms of trouble so real that one can't think a way out, but time heals for those who help it, and among the blessings of the poor is that they must work in their grief. There lies a point which the poet may overlook in his latest school of happiness. To work, and in the working not forget how to play, nor the pleasure of play, somewhere along that route lies happiness and health. And happiness and health are essential to each other, and each is the other's helper.

All of which is generally known, and may be readily learned from the most common sense, without the aid of French instructors. The difficulty is to follow the teaching. Attention please.

A MAIL FROM KANMAN.

We had come to believe that all carnivals there were, probably came to Dothan, once or twice a year but it seems that some have strayed as far west as Kanab. This from the Empire Gazette. It seems probable that the street carnival companies will find little encouragement when they try to break into Empireville and this is encouraging. Such shows are the greatest taken in the country and when they enter a town they are a public nuisance. No amusement enterprise should be permitted to block the streets as the carnival companies do. The surprising thing is that western towns have stood for the carnival nuisance so long, and so patiently.

They may take the western towns like they do Dothan. Every time a new set of councilmen are sworn in for Dothan, the first thing they do is to make themselves solid with the merchants by passing an ordinance prohibiting carnivals. The next thing you know, they have a carnival looked and the paper is being passed on every vacant wall in the city, and then comes the little bands, wearing weather beaten uniforms. The barker is all the same and so are the shows.

The only consolation we have when they come to Dothan is, we know they will have to borrow money to get out of town. The last one here played a week, and three solid days of rain, and couldn't get out of town, but their license went out, which was some satisfaction to the city officials.

Probably nothing else will be done about the carnivals till another council comes on, when a new ordinance will be passed, that will probably raise the license a little.

On a close record for about seven years, it is believed that not one single nickel ever came to Dothan on account of a street fair being here, and finds its way into the cash drawer of some of the business men of the town. On the other hand, many dimes and dollars have gone into those carnivals that should have gone for groceries and dry goods.

Another Reason for High Cost of Living.

This is one of the reasons for the high cost of living, as the Sparta Ismaelite sees it. "Many farmers and others can recall the fact that when they were boys on the farm, the farmer who had two spring wagons to put on his wagon for gain days was considered a fortunate and well-to-do farmer. Most farmers then had only one spring seat and the children sat behind on mere boards laid across the wagon bed. Then came the farmer who had the spring wagon, a smaller wagon with spring under it. Then came the top carriage and so on. Now it is the automobile that runs not only on springs but on cushion tires and the automobile costs about as much as thirty spring wagons used to cost. In all of this we may catch the drift of progress and also an explanation of the high cost of living. But we have to have such things as Albany Herald.

Can Have Meat for Breakfast Now

Woodrow Wilson received today his first pay check as President of the United States when Secretary McAdoo presented him with a treasury warrant for $55,000, representing his salary from March 1 to 31. On pay day hereafter, however, the President will receive $4,250 a full month's proportion of his $72,000 annual stipend. The President is the only official whose salary is paid directly by the treasury department. Birmingham Ad. Rev.

Explained
Reports from Washington indicate that George has more adherents at Washington than at other states. This is probably explained by the fact that many George patriots are willing to help a favorite son run the government. Valdosta (Ga.) Times

A Big Sunday School
Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan appeared at a Washington church on Sunday, March 3. Just after the inauguration, at the Sunday school hour, walked in, introduced himself to the pastor and the superintendent and said: "I want a class I always teach at home." He said, "Here is a class of men—sixty of them. You may have them," and soon Mr. Bryan was admitted in the lesson for that date. In the same Sunday school Secretary of the Interior Lane was also teaching, and it goes without saying that one church at least in Washington will have a big Sunday school with those two distinguished men teaching. Baltimore Times

Don't Be a Grinch.
A big Western railroad has launched a new slogan. It is "Learn to laugh." Simple, isn't it? It merely means quit taking your troubles to other people. Instead of telling how you suffered with the lumbago and cold feet and how the neuralgia nearly drove you crazy, think up a funny story and use it. Laugh don't moan. Expressed differently the slogan means, "Don't be a grinch." The market value of a grin is far greater than that of a frown. Savannah Morning News

A Bitter Defeat.
The defeat of Champ Clark at the Ballinore convention, when he was a candidate for the democratic nomination, was one of bitterness even so much so that he seems unable to overcome it. He has never gotten up sufficient courage and manhood to extend his hand in friendship to W. J. Bryan. And yet, when Uncle Joe Cannon

The Smile Counts.

Says a headline over a news item from New York concerning the rise of a well known man—McAdoo's Smile Helps Him Win. That smile is McAdoo's asset. It helped him win friends and aid him. It is a help and rest to any man. It is a help to the smile may win for himself first of all, it is an attraction in most instances. He has the man he approaches in smiling towards him, and it makes business easier to transact. It draws people toward him by his smiling attitude. A smile is indicative of the light within—and everything in the way of living creatures except moles and poisonous creatures are attracted by the light. Life is too short to cultivate the grumpy man. People shun away from him. They do not want to be about him any longer than is necessary, and they will not. Some people have managed to achieve success by using the budgeon, but they are the exceptions. Most men of mark are distinguished for their amiability and courtesy. That was true yesterday in getting a station and they have found that it has been of benefit to maintain that attitude.

Dr. Alexis Carrel Hopes to Grow New Nerves and Organs Into Dead Animal Tissues.

SHIP KILLS MONSTER SHARK

Passengers and Crew of Havana Line Tell of Large Fish That Was Seen at Sea.

New York—Passengers and crew of the steamer Havana of the Ward Line from Havana brought a tale of a tremendous shark that came to an end across the ship's bow. Captain Knight said it was the largest shark he had ever seen but could not give it exact length. A passenger, a real estate dealer with the ruling passion strong, said that if placed on land it would have covered a plot 30 by 15 feet.

Passengers promenading the deck about noon suddenly felt the ship shudder. Looking over the rail they saw a monster shark leaping from the water at the ship's bow into a foam. The impact when the big monster struck was felt throughout the vessel and the blow was sufficient to put the ship almost in half.

The engine was reversed and the ship finally backed clear of the shark which sunk. While at Havana the ship lost a quartermaster overboard and the brief crew among the passengers that he had fallen prey to the shark. It had followed the vessel in hopes that another victim would come its way.

WILSON SMOKED ONLY ONCE

Admits It Hit Him With Disastrous Effects and That He Never Tried It Again

Tranton, N. J.—The arrival of a long-expected letter from President Wilson's private secretary, Mr. J. P. Wilson, has brought to the public notice the confession that once in his life, and only once, did he smoke.

It was this way, he said. "My father was a smoker of some attainments and I had got to the stage where he had a fat black cigar. In his leisure hours my mother took a package of his habit and employed him to blow the pungent smoke over her shoulders to kill insects."

One day when he was not at home she suggested that I try it on one of her favorite plants and I obliged somewhat reluctantly. For five minutes I stood there like a fool, and then I hit me with disastrous effects. I never tried it since that.

And you never had any ambition to learn smoking? "Yes, suggested."

No, he replied. You see I never was fond of it, so there wouldn't have been any point in it."

Chocolate Doughnuts
Beat two eggs, add one and one-half cups of sugar, and one-half cup of butter. Two squares of melted chocolate, one cup of milk and one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder in the cream to make a soft dough. Fry as usual.

SURE WAY TO KILL ROACHES

Preparation of Borax and White Sugar is Fatal to the Filthy Insects

Mix dry powder of borax with its own bulk of white sugar and set in shallow vessels all about where the crawling things deposit themselves. Renew the mixture every five days taking care to sweep up and burn all the dead roaches.

Paint visible pipes and the spaces where they enter the wall periodically with turpentine. Let the turpentine run down and around the pipes, especially but with a pipe. Be careful to do it when the water is cool. Now and again pour a spoonful of pure turpentine down sinks and tubs.

Cut Irish potatoes in half, dip the cut sides in the borax and sugar and lay them about under sinks and closets. Do this toward evening. In the morning gather the potatoes which should be cut side down very quickly and drop them into bucket of boiling water. If insects are plenty there probably will be from one to a dozen clinging to each piece.

JEWEL CASE AND PINCUSHION

Double Convenience for the Woman Who is Required to Do Considerable Traveling

One of the most convenient little accessories to the toilet for the woman who travels about a great deal is a small jewel case and pincushion combined.

It is made of a piece of fancy ribbon or plain satin twelve inches long, and six inches wide. The material is sewed together lengthwise, then divided into three parts four inches in each (either by stitching it on the machine or with very close cross-stitch or feather-stitching).

Do this stitching four inches from one side first, then fill the center with wool to form the cushion in which to stick the pins. Then attach it across four inches from the other end.

There you have a solid center, a hollow end and these ends are bound to form a firm one inch wide. In these a small casing is run, with a row of ribbon placed through that so as to pull it up like a little bag on each end.

This makes a flat cushion in the center having highly ends to which the jewelry is kept. brooches, bracelets, rings, chains and the watch when it is not in use. The cushion can be drawn in cross-stitch or an embroidered initial or a small spray of flowers.

Such a case can be made of any material you may choose. Brocade satin is always pretty, plain satin covered with lace or crepe, linen that can be laundered will be found a satisfactory substitute for other more expensive fabrics.

One side of the cushion may be used for jewelry and the other for sewing materials—cotton scissors, needles, etc. or for a soft ball of darning cotton that is always handy to have when traveling.

This combination cushion and case will make a splendid gift for the young girl who is attending boarding school or for one away from home.

MOST SOUTHERN U. S. BEACON

Lighthouse Situated at Point Isabel, Tex. Near Mouth of the Rio Grande, Seldom Visited by Ships

Point Isabel, Tex.—The most southern lighthouse upon the mainland in the United States is one at Point Isabel, Tex. which is situated a few miles north of the mouth of the Rio Grande. In the early days before other Texas ports had been developed and prior to the construction of railroads into the state there was a heavy trade through the port of Point Isabel and many oceangoing vessels made this their regular stopping place. The trade of the vast territory embracing much of northern Mexico and a big part of Texas flowed in and out through this port and the lighthouse was a necessary beacon to
